Initial Interaction with Client

Me: "Hey we should make an app"

Client: "Yessir I like it"

"When do we start"

Me: "I need a project for Computer Science, so it's perfect"

"And I need a client, and that's you"

Client: "Yupp"

"I'm just tryna make hella moves and take risks because my income is slow I'm tryna kick everything in"

Me: "So what do you want to do for the app?"

Client: "Ah finding our niche"

"The hard part"

"Anything we could incorporate into the rfid thing? Like launch it and have there be an accompanying phone accessory"

Me: "Oh yeah, we need to talk to him. Has he texted you?"

Client: "He has my info but hasn't hmu yet"

Me: "yeah, I know he has your number, did you get his?"

"I'm still not entirely sure what the whole concept behind his company is. I still haven't seen his business model or anything. I know he has requested a patent, but it hasn't been approved yet."

"Can you think of something else for an app? It also doesn't have to be a mobile app, it could be a website, or both. It should have an aspect relating to databases though."

"We could do something where you bet on Google search trends."

Client: "Oh shit that's hit"

"Hot"

"I fw that"

Me: "It could be like a stock simulator, with graphs and past hot searches"

Client: "Damn wed have to code bots to track all that"

"Would it cost much to generate all that stuff live graphs and databases?"

Me: "We can get hosting for up to two databases free on 000webhost, or we would use AWS for education, and we would use the Google Trends API to track the data."

"We would mostly be focusing on the storage of user's selections, credits, and keeping everything live"

Client: "We need employees?"

"Smart ones huh?"

Me: "Not even, this is a very doable project"

Client: "Any way to draft up a website design? Or do we need to buy hosting first?"

"Or dat free?"

Me: "We could do this just us, and an advisor"

"I'm on 000webhosting.com"

Client: "Who's would we make the advisor?"

Me: "And the design for the website is easy"

"I don't know who the advisor would be, but I have two prospects in mind""

Client: "We should use this a front to generate startup donations and buy a yacht because taxes can't track jackkk"

Me: "Do you remember my uncle? He gave me the Galileo development board at Camp Dakota?"

"There you go"

Client: "What about the board?"

Me: "Nothing about the board, my uncle may be the advisor"

Client: "Oh yupp!"

Me: "Yeah, that would be perfect"

"So does the Google Trends thing sound good?"

"Also, do you have a GitHub"

Client: "Yeah it does"

"No"

Me: "get a GitHub account"